I hereby transfer to the Bahrain Medical Bulletin the ‘Complete copyright’, if and when the article is accepted for publication in the Bahrain Medical Bulletin. Copyright is assigned in all forms and media (whether now known or hereafter developed), throughout the world, in all languages, for the full term of copyright and all extensions and renewals thereof. This transfer includes the right to adapt the presentation of the article for use in conjunction with computer systems and programs, including reproduction or publication in machine-readable form and incorporation in retrieval systems.

Authors reserve the following rights:

- Patent and trademark rights to any process or procedure described in the article.
- The right to include the article in full or in part in a thesis or dissertation provided that the thesis or dissertation is not to be published commercially.
- The right to photocopy or make electronic copies of the article for their own personal use, including for their own classroom use, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided that the copies are not offered for sale and are not distributed in a systematic way outside the employing institutions (e.g., via an e-mail list).
- The right to retain a pre-print version of the article on an electronic public server.
- The right to post the final published version of the article on a secure network (not accessible to the public) within the authors’ institutions.
- The right, subsequent to publication, to use the article or any part thereof, free of charge in a printed compilation of works of their own, such as collected writings or lecture notes.
- If the article is a ‘work for hire’ made within the scope of the authors’ employment, the employer may use all or part of the information in this article for intra-company use.
- The right to present the paper at a meeting or conference and to hand copies of the paper to the delegates attending the meeting.
- The right to prepare derivative works, with full acknowledgement to the Bahrain Medical Bulletin.
- The right to extend the article into book-length form, with full acknowledgement to the Bahrain Medical Bulletin.
- The right to re-use parts of the paper in other works.

Part 3. Authorship Disclosure Form

Authorship credit should be based on criteria established by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors: (1) substantial contributions to conception and design, acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data; (2) drafting the article or revising it critically for important intellectual content; and (3) final approval of the version to be published. Authors must meet conditions 1, 2, and 3. Participation solely in the acquisition of funding or the collection of data does not justify authorship. General supervision of the research group is not sufficient for authorship. Being the pathologist or radiologist who participated in diagnosing the case does not justify authorship, except if conditions 1, 2, and 3 are met; otherwise, authors must submit written approval from these specialists if detailed description/analysis is used. Authors should be prepared to explain to the Editor the order in which authors are listed.

Must be completed and signed by all authors. Print below the Name of Authors, Signature, date and Contribution of all Authors
